Local Department Aids In Pescadero Disaster

What is claimed as a record in time for negotiating the tortuous mountain road between this city and the town of Pescadero was made Saturday night by Robert Bell of the Redwood City Fire Department, when he piloted the giant Seagrave pumper of the local department to the flame-swept village in one hour and 18 minutes. The hurried visit to Pescadero was in response to a call from that place which reported that the town was being destroyed by fire. Bell was accompanied by Chief Mark Ryan, Henry Beeger and Edwin Holmquist of the Redwood City department and by Dan Foley, also of this city. Fred Glennan of the local department was visiting in San Gregorio, and he also hurried to Pescadero and helped the department in its battle with the flames.

The fire which threatened the total destruction of Pescadero originated in the terminal of the Coastside Transportation Co., where one of the drivers was filling a truck with gasoline. The gasoline caught fire from a lantern and exploded. The building was soon swept with flames which rapidly spread to neighboring buildings.

The flames spread n both directions along the west side of the main street, enveloping the general merchandise store of J. C. Williamson, the Emporium, conducted by A. R. Rease, a soft drink place run by Jack Bennett, the home of Mrs. Manuel Enos in which the telephone exchange was located, the Duarte lodging house and other buildings on that side of the street.

Fortunately the day was one on which no wind was blowing, and the flames spread was comparatively slow. The citizens formed a bucket brigade which combatted the flames until the arrival of the fire department from this city. When the pumper arrived a line of hose was thrown into Pescadero creek, which runs through the town, and a good stream of water made available, which soon quenched the flames.

During the progress of the fire, damage to the extent of $200,000 is reported to have been done. This is partly covered by insurance. Plans are already under way for the rebuilding of the destroyed portion of the town.

The timely summoning of the Redwood City department was done by Mrs. Enos, telephone operator, who although her house was in flames, continued at the switchboard, and summoned help from here and other neighboring towns.

C. OF C. MEETING WELL ATTENDED

About fifty members of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce met at the first of a series of weekly luncheons to be held on Mondays for the discussion of matters of civic interest. Besides the members of the organiation there were present last Monday a number of county officials.

The chief topic of discussion Monday was the project of extending Broadway. Talks in favor of this proposition were made by Trustee Mark Ryan, Mayor Beeger, President E. B. Hinman of the Chamber of Commerce and others of those present. Only one, Julius Smith opposed the proposition and a vote taken of hose present showed only one vote against while 49 voted in favor of the proposition.

It is planned to hold these meetings every Monday noon, and it is thought much good may come from the plan.

OLD TOWN TO RECEIVE NEW LIFE FROM BRIDGE

When the Dumbarton bridge is completed in a few monthh the territory known as Ravenswood, now called East Palo Alto, will become known to thousands whereas now it is practically unknown to the world. Ravenswood proper is a duplication of Goldsmith's "Deserted Village." It started into life with every prospect of success and during the period when question of the western terminus of the Central Pacific Railroad was raising hopes of so many towns, Ravenswood was threatened with being made the western terminus of a railroad bridge across the bay at the Cooley landing. Had the event occurred, its hostory could not be so briefly told.

In 1853, when much attention was being directed to the lumber interests in this part of San Francisco county and mills were being erected, it was evident that some point on the bay would attain importance as a lumber-shipping town. With this idea in view, I. C. Woods, Hackett, Judah and William Roe, is 1853 purchased what was known as the Steinburger property and platted the Town of Ravenswood. An extensive and costly wharf was built to deep water, lots were sold and houses erected; a store was opened by one William Paul and altogether a good deal of activity displayed there. But the town, not proving available as a lumber-shipping port, soon subsided. The property untimately came into the hands of the late L. P. Cooley. Later Hunter and Shackleford and Company manufactured brick near the wharf and the concern operated teh largest brick kiln in this section of the state. This industry started in 1874. The concern manufactured a high grade of brick. All the brick used in the old Palace Hotel building in San Francisco was made there Large barges would come down the bay and return with the cargoes of brick.

The long wharf, built in early days, went to decay so that now very little is left to remind one of the former glory of Ravenswood. However, the old town that now lives in memory only will soon be active again that whole community there will be revived with the influx of people who will cross the Dumbarton bridge from the valleys into this beautiful locality.

Woodside Notes

The passing of Miss Addie Tripp on Monday, took from Woodside its longest resident. Born here more than three score years ago, she had lived her whole life on the same piece of land that her father occupied at the time of his first advent in Woodside. It was a log cabin that she lived in first before the saw mills began to cut into lumber the trees from our hillsides and as a little girl she helped her father in the little store, at first was a bustling logging camp in the days of her girlhood, with its village, strung along the old road that still runs along the base of the ridge from the King's Mountain road to that which leads over to La Honda. In their days Woodside was a part of San Francisco county, and her father was one of the supervisors.

She was loved by all the neighborhood for her warm sympathy and kindly acts. Children were especially fond of her and knew that a treat was always to be found in her pantry.

Her many friends from here and from San Francisco paid their last respects to her on Thursday morning.

William McCann and family who have been traveling in Europe for a year returned to San Francisco on Monday and visited their country home here on Wednesday. After the excitement of a years touring they plan to spend the summer in the quiet of Woodside.

Isaac Upham, another of our neighbors who has been abroad, returned two weeks ago from several months spent in the Orient, where he has been arranging for a chain of movie theaters. Mr. Upham had many thrilling adventures while journeying in China. The Uphams were at their home here on Saturday last but will not live here during the summer as their place has been leased for six months to F. O. Hall of San Francisco who expects to take possession at once.

Charles Bull, brother of Mrs. Covington Pringle, is known as one of the most intrepid explorers of the present day. He returned a few months ago from an extended trip into the upper reaches of the Amazon river. He explored and mapped several tributaries of this great stream hundreds of miles beyond where any white man had ever gone before, each day facing death in the form of savage beast or yet more savage Indian tribes constantly in peril from the jungle fever, more to be feared than either Indians or animals. He has been recuperating at the home of the Covington Pringles but the wander-lust has gripped him again and he is now planning a trip into the back country of Dutch Guiana, a region about as mysterious and unknown as any portion of the globe.

The new fire house for the accomodation of the Woodside fire department is in course of construction upon leased ground just north of Neuman Bros.' Woodside garage.

A new Oldsmobile sedan caught fire on the Woodside road near the Jackling place on Sunday last and was completely destroyed. Thirty-five cars lined upon the road while it was burning and not one car in the 35 had a fire extinguisher. The fire was caused by a short circuit in the wiring system.

Thieves entered the homes of Herbert Gallagher and Dr. Alanson Weeks on Wednesday and went away with two radio sets electric percolators and chafing dishes and a collection of trinkets and bric-a-brac as well as canned goods from the larder.

Will Barg has left for a trip to Washington, where he has some valuable timber land with a trout stream near by. The spring fever is bad enough for most of us to withstand even without those temptations.

Mrs Fred Johnson, Sr., was hostess at a delightful whist party at her home on Friday afternoon. Sixteen hands of progressive whist was played and high scores were made by Mesdames Andrew Johnson, Paul Miller, Ben Schweickert and Ray Kelly. Guests included Mesdames Geo Roussel, John G. Smith, Paul Miller, Ray Kelly, William Johnson and F. McArdle, Fred Johnson, Jr., all of Belmont, Ben Schweickert of Redwood City; and Harry Gee, Fred T. Odgers, Andrew Johnson and Arlington Dennery of San Carlos.

Early History Recalled By Superior Court Case

In the Superior court on Thursday afternoon Judge Buck signed an order quieting title to a little over two acres of land located at Colma belonging to Joseph S. Ortiz. It was the ordinary proceeding in such cases but behind the suit lies an interesting story of historical events of the county.

In the early forties, the Ortizs, Valencies, Sanchezs and other Spanish residents owned nearly all the property from San Mateo up to the southern end of San Francisco county on which large herds of cattle roamed the verdant hills growing fat upon the succulent grasses that were abundant in those years. H. Ortiz, father of the man who had the title to the land corrected, arrived in Colma in 1843 securing at once a large tract of choice land. Here he erected a dwelling where his six children were born and where he died. As the years went on he began selling his property until only a small portion was left and that dwindled to the two acres located where the bottle neck was broken last week. The new proposed road breaking the neck of the bottle will pass through the property, thus making the land very valuable.

One by one the Ortiz children died the heirs never probating upon their estates so that the title to the property became clouded and the proceedings of Thursday had to be resorted to in order to give the only remaining heir, Joseph S. Ortiz, title to the holding. He has resided upon the land for many years. He might have sold it years ago but he had no title to it, but this was fortunate for him for it is said he can now dispose of it for $25,000, enough to keep him in luxury for the remainder of his days. Mr. Orti is now 65 years old.

In his younger days he was a vaquero for Miller and Lux on their vast ranches in the state, often driving a heard of cattle from the Gilroy ranch up the peninsula to the slaughter pens of the company in San Francisco.

Like Ortiz, the Valencias and Sanchezs lost all their big holdings, now worth millions. They all died poor. This was the case of nearly all the old Spanish settlers. They were care free and a happy people who loved pleasure, liked their siestas and shunned work. They were hospitable and generous to a fault and let their valuable holdings slip from them.

The Ortizs, Valencieas and Sanchezs are indelibly identified with the early history of San Mateo county. The proceedings on Thursday adds an other page to the this history.

EXCHANGE CLUB HOLDS FIRST MEETING

Judge Bird, president of the San Mateo-Burlingame Exchange Club was the speaker at the first meeting of the newly formed Exchange Club of this city last Tuesday evening. The Judge is a convincing speaker, and brought to the first meeting of the organization here considerable enthusiasm for the good work that service clubs are doing for business men every where. He said that while sin and ignorance were tragedies of life, the fact that men did not understand one another was one of the great tragedies today, and by means of the various service clubs men were getting an intimate acquaintance with neighbors that was breaking down business prejudices and petty jealousies.

G. R. Kennedy, past president of the Watsonville club, also addressed the meeting which was held at the Fox Shoppe on the highway.

Next Tuesday a joint meeting will be held with the Palo Alto Exchange Club. The charter for the local club is expected within a few weeks and an elaborate charter night will be held for that occasion. The charter membership of the club consists of the following business men of this city.

Pioneer Woman Dies at Home Monday

The passing away of Miss Addie Tripp at her home at Woodside Monday morning removed one of the pioneer residents of that quiet little community among the hills. Miss Tripp was the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. O. Tripp. She was born and raised in Woodside and spent the whole of her 66 years in the same house in which she first saw the light of day.

Dr. Robert O. Tripp, her father, was one of the first residents of Woodside. He was a dentist of Massachusetts, but in 1848 he came to San Francisco by way of Mexico and in that year opened an office in San Francisco. He continued here only a few months, however. The weather being damp and chilly. Dr. Tripp contracted a severe cold, and his only chance for life was an escape to a milder climate. He came south settling at Woodside, in what at that time was a part of San Francisco county. Where Woodside is now was at that time the great Copenger ranch, peopled entirely by Spaniards with the excepton of Charles Brown, Dennis Martin and Messrs Andrew and Gardner, the two latter of whom were a shingle firm.

Upon his return to health, Dr. Tripp decided to remain here as the opportunity for money making was an exceptional one on account of the demand for shingles. He at once embarked in this business, and even with the disadvantages under which it was necessary to labor, having to get them out by hand, drawing water with oxen and shipping to San Jose or San Francisco, he made a considerable profit.

Dr. Tripp then engaged in getting out wharf timber, puttting together four rafts which were the first ever sent to San Francisco. At length he tired of this life and decided to open up a store, which he did in the fall of 1851, his being the first store of its kind between San Francisco and Santa Clara. He put up a building himself upon the site which for years has been occupied by his house. Two years later he erected a more substantial store building.

The town gradually grew up out of the wilderness, and finally a postoffice was added to the number of buildings. M. A. Parkhurst was the first postmaster, being appointed in 1854. In 1863 Dr. Tripp succeeded him and occupied that position until the time of his death in 1908, except for four years during the presidency of Grover Cleveland, during which time the office was filled by A. Neuman.

Dr. Tripp was married in 1856 to Miss Emeline Skelton, also a native of Massachusetts. They had two daughters, one of whom died in infancy, the other was Miss Addie Tripp, whose death occured Monday.

Miss Tripp was a descendant on both sides of her family from Americans of the Revolution, and Dr. Tripp's family on both sides were also Revolutionary stock.

During her long and useful life at Woodside, Miss Tripp had endeared herself to the people of that village and her loss is keenly felt among them. Her funeral was held Thursday from the chapel of the James Crowe Co. and the many sorrowing friends and the abundance of floral offerings attested the high estem in which she was held. Interment was in Cypress Lawn cemetery.

GOLFERS AND KIWANIS MEET ON DIAMOND

The community is aquiver today in expectation of the sensational game which will occur this afternoon on the diamond of the Sequoia Union High School, when Ray Griffin's Kiwanian baseballers will cross bats with Charlie Holt's hill-climbing golf fans. The game is scheduled for 2 o'clock, and as the moon is now well along toward the full it is hoped that the teams may reach a deision before dark.

Very little has been divulged by the managers of either teams, and it is understood that there is a reason in their reticence. It is understood, however, that Manager Ray has had Phil Brand practicing home runs ever since the game was planned and that Otis Carrington has practiced stealing home, a feat for which he became distinguished in the last game, in fact he has been stealing home every evening after school hours for several weeks. Among the golfers, on the other hand, it is reported that Les Prior, the champion home-runner of the Emerald Lake district, has been practicing making a hole in one with a bat, and something out of the ordinary is promised in his game this afternoon.

The Kiwanis-Emerald Lake game has attracted considerable notice throughout the nation and even in Europe. In fact, it is unofficially reported this week that Charles Lambert and Carl Muller have been engaged to carry actual photographs of the combat back to London next month when they leave for Europe for use in the London Telegraph.

It is unfortunate circumstances for Stanford that the great track meet in which Charles Paddock is to appear today after an absence of four years, occurs on the same day as this great exhibit of atletic ability, for it is predicted that the Stanford track will be practically deserted today in favor of the Sequoia diamond. An attendance is expected that will eclipse any previous events, not excepting the annual big game. The rumor prevalent yesterday that President Coolidge would attend, could not, however, be confirmed by our correspondent up to the time of this issue going to press. However, a good time is expected by all who are fortunate enough to get inside the gates before all the available standing room is taken. Tickets may still be purchased for 50 cents. All proceeds of the game are for the charitable services of the organiations.

SEQUOIA TEAM LOSES CHAMPIONSHIP

After a season of brilliant victories which placed them in the final for the basketball championship for Northern California the 130-pound team of Sequoia met defeat in one of the hardest games of the season with the Napa high school team. The local boys were slow at the start and let their opponents roll up a score of 6 to 0 in the first quarter. This lead proved too much to overcome, and although the local team put up one of their best fights in the last three quarters they were unable to even up the score. The game ended with a final score of 18 to 13 in favor of Napa.

The team was accompanied to Napa by a large number of Sequoia rooters and by Coach Frank Griffin, who has trained them for their brilliant record. The members of the 130-pound team are as follows:

COUNTY OFFICIALS GUESTS AT DINNER

Last Tuesday the county officials were given a luncheon in the club house of the Devonshire Company at San Carlos. The ride to the famous building setting on the crest of a high hill back of San Carlos was, indeed, a treat. This structure over looks the entire bay region. The beautiful panorma presented to the eye from this view is beyond description. It has to be seen to be fully appreciated.

Vast development is taking place in that locality. The tree covered-hills are being transformed into a veritable garden of eden. Roads are constructed through the hills and beautiful homes appear in the shaded corners of ethe attractive plateaus The management showed the visitors every consideration in pointing out the features of the tract. A delightful lunch was served in the beautiful dining room of the club overlooking the bay. The county officials left the heights well pleased and delighted with Devonshire.

Broadway Extension Popular

WHEN the general public makes a mistake it is always of ignorance. Shown the true facts of a matter, the judgment of the public will be found to be correct, opinions of certain politicians notwithstanding. So it seems to be in the case of the Broadway extension, which will be on the ballots for approval on the 12th of next month.

A few weeks ago the matter was the subject of considerable discussion. Opinions were expressed pro and con. Objections were raised, and many people thought that the proposition would be unwise. Since then by the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce the facts of the case have been presented to the people, and today it would require a search to find anyone who does not favor the improvement. In fact at a meeting of practically all of the business men of the town this week only one discenting vote was cast when the matter was taken to a straw vote.

The extension of Broadway would be a wonderful help to Redwood City. This is a fact now recognized by almost everyone. Where projects of this kind meet with opposition, it will almost always be found that it is because the true facts are not understood.

Backing His Convictions

A lawyer in New York City wrote his brother who is head of a New York state country bank, in regard to the use of government printed envelopes by the bank. He said:

"I know their convenience and doubtless they are cheaper, but in these days when the various classes of industry and business realize the necessity of fighting against the further encroachment of the government and state into business, it is rather inconsistent for a bank, or any other business, to encourage government competition with its own citizens. So far as the envelopes are concerned, the government is in the business tax free; and if it can manufacture, sell and distribute envelopes in competition with private enterprise, which must pay the taxes to maintain government, there is no good reason why it should not invade other fields of business. Each industrial function taken over in the name of the government adds an increased tax burden on the private citizen and property owner. I think that when the present supply of government envelopes is exhausted, we should purchase our envelopes from a private printer who pays taxes to maintain our government, even if it makes us lick our own stamps and causes us to pay a little more for the printing. Think it over."

Commendation Due Senate

A movement has been started in the United States senate to curb the "habit of the senate" of embarking upon numerous investigations.

There is a feeling that congressional and senate investigations are in many instances largely for political effect, and that as such, they upset sound industrial conditions, with resulting loss and inconvenience to the public.

We have legal, judicial and regulatory departments of our government which should be capable of carrying on proper investigations and hearings where the facts warrant. Such duly authorized proceedings might not be as sensational in character as the "shows" the senate stages, but they would be as effective in getting results and far less expensive for the taxpayers.

Taxes add to the cost of living and of doing business. About ten per cent of the money you pay for gas or electricity is returned to the State and Federal governments for taxes.

MENLO PARK ELECTION SET BY SUPERVISOR

April 19 is the date set by the board of supervisors last Monday as the date for the election to decide whether or not Menlo Park shall be incorporated as a city of the sixth class. This action was taken by the board following the presentation by Attorney A. J. Stebenne, representing the incorporationists of a map which Stebenne stated was the same as the one adopted by the board last year, with one exception; a small piece of Valpariso avenue was excluded. D. E. O'Keefe of Menlo Park was then sworn and testified that there were no inhabitants in the land so excluded.

As the arrangements appeared suitable to the board a resolution was passed setting the date of election and also the polling places and naming the eection officers.

KIWANIANS HERE TALK ON ARTIFICIAE LIGHT

The use and abuse of artificial light was the subject of an address before the Redwood City Kiwanis Club by Leo Gianini, lecturer of the National Lamp Co. The address was accompanied by actual demonstrations of the effect of proper and improper light effects and of the use and effect of light upon the eye and the results of improper light.

Mark Ryan was chairman of the meeting Wednesday and the meeting was presided over by Vice-president Asa Hull in the absence of President Frank Towne. The club had as their guests the members of the Sequoia 130-pound basketball team and their coach, Frank Griffin.

MOTOR DEPARTMENT REVIEWS RESULT OF LICENSING

Reviewing results of the new law requiring applicants for operators licenses to pass an examination as to their qualifications and fitness to drive, Will H. Marsh, Chief of the Division of the Motor Vehicles announced this week that the state officials haxe examined the applications of approximately 170,000 prospective drivers since the law became effective eight months ago.

Characterizing the law as" the biggest step toward highway safety California has ever taken, "Marsh said he believes hundreds of serious accidents have been averted by the examinations which compel motorists to learn to drive.

Although the actual number of persons definitely refused a license is only forty-six, the motor vehicle chief declared this is no basis for measuring results. Thousands of applicants, he said have been compelled to demonstrate, by practical driving tests, their fitness to handle cars while hundreds of others were compelled to take the tests two or more times before receiving cards.

"Great masses of people are thus being compelled to study the art of driving carefully,' he said, "the incompetents are rapidly being eliminated.

"The law still lacks teeth and ought to be strengthened. One way would be to provide for the annual renewal of all operators cards with a provision whereby violations of the law could be noted on the card. Such a system would provide a check on the entire driving population."

Of the forty-six rejections, seventeen, or more than one-third were because of inability to read road signs. Nineteen were found incompetent and given up as "hopeless" by the examining officers. One was under 14, the legal age limit, another was reckless and another a user of narcotic drugs. Two refused to take the tests.

Six weer reejcted because of physical disability.

The division's records show approximately 2,800,000 persons have driving licenses in California. Of these about 15 per cent are women.

CALIFORNIA FLOWERS PICTURED AT STANFORD

The exhibition of Roadside Flowers of California, collected by Jane and Francis Stewart will continue at the Stanford Art Gallery until April 5.

This collection has, for the past two weeks, been enjoyed by a great many visitors, incuding some grammar school classes and their teachers. Mr. Stewart was at the gallery and gave the children an interesting and instructive talk.

Mr. Stewart mentions that there are 4019 species of wild flowers in California, 3727 of which are native plants and forty per cent of the natives are endemic, that is they are found in California only. All the flowers in the exhibition are found in what is known as the Franciscan area which extends from northern Monterey county to southern Mendocino county.

The various regions of wild plants of our state tell something of the successive stages of development of the land. From the kinds and extent of the wild flora much may be be infererd regarding the time or times of lowering and raising of the land above the water.

This collection was made primarily for the purpose of the maintenance of a private record of our most beautiful and valued flora. Already are the most beautiful displays of native beauty being uprooted by realtors to make room for an increasing population so that it is not unlikely that someday this whole region will be minus a sign of wild flora.

NEWS OF MENLO PARK

The home section of the Menlo Park Parent-Teacher Association met in the basement of the school Thursday afternoon of last week. The chapter, "The Activities of the Child between the ages of one to twelve from the book "The Child, It's Nature and It's Needs," was discussed by Mrs. J. J. Garland. She told of how the child grew and what exercises it needs between those ages. After the discussion refreshments were served by the refreshment committee.

J. S. McClymont, owner of the old S. W. Hopkins home is constructing a large swimming pool on the property to cost in the neighborhood of $5000. The McClymonts plan to have many swimming parties during the summer made up of city friends.

Mrs. Frank Maloney, who has been quite ill, is rapidly recovering and will shortly be convalescent. This will be glad news for her many friends on the peninsula and at Gilroy where she spent her girlhood.

The board of supervisors on Monday last called an election for the incorporation of the Town of Menlo Park as a city of the sixth class for Monday, April 19. There will be two polling places, one at the fire house and the other at the Nielsen store on the highway opposite the grammar school. The polls will be open at 6 a. m. and close at 7 p. m. The people will then have an opportunity to vote upon the question and it is hoped that all the voters will come out so that a full and complete expression of the voters may be had. It is vital that the town be incorporated if it wants to get anywhere and go ahead as it should.

Personal animosities or feeling should not enter the election, all should pull together and incorporate the town with the avowed purpose of advancing its interest. The campaign is on and during the interim between now and the day of election numerous meetings will be held to enlighten the voters. These meetings should be attended by the voters in order that they may be fully advised as to their duties and responsibilities in this all-important matter. Many candidates for the various offices are being groomed preparatory to filing before next Monday. A complete list will be announced next week. For the five trusteeship there will probably be twelve candidates and from two to three for the other places. The campaign promises to be a lively one and in the scramble for offices it is to be hoped the voters will not lose sight of the main issue, namely incorporation. Vote for incorporation first and then select your candidates for the various municipal places.

Mrs. Cora Parker having closed her home in the city has opened her pretty cottage near the highway for the summer. Mrs. Parker will entertain considerably during the season.

The announcement of the engagement of Miss Inez Macondray, a former Menlo Park girl, and Clift Lundborg of an Francisco has been made. The pretty bride-to-be was born here and comes of an old pioneer family of Atherton. The wedding is to take place in June.

Miss Macondray is a daughter of Mrs. William Otis Edmunds of Clear Lake and the late Atherton Macondray of Menlo Park. Her great grandmother, the late Mrs. Faxon Atherton, was one of the dominating figures in the early social history of San Francisco and established the first large country estate in Menlo Among Miss Macondray's relatives are Mrs. Perry Eyre, Mrs. Bergie Beckett, Miss Sara Collier and Mrs. Royal Macdonald. She is a sister of Mrs. Herman Phleger and Lieut. Atherton Macondray, U. S. N.

Mr. Lundborg is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Lundborg of San Francisco and Piedmont. He is also a member of a pioneer family. His family conections include the Clifts, the Searles, the Delattre-Seguys and the Lee Cole Burnhams.

The food and rummage sale conducted under the auspices of the Menlo Park branch of National Council of Catholic Women last Saturday was a most successful affair and netted a neat sum to carry on the good work the local council is doing here. The committee wishes to extend thanks to Mr. W. Murry who kindly gave the use of his newly finished store as well as all who gave donations of food etc and those who so generously purchased the same.

On March 18, Madge L. Schwabenland was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce by Judge Buck from her husband, August A. Schwabenland, on the ground of extreme cruelty on her cross complaint. The husband originally brought the suit against his wife for the decree but the wife answered and filed her cross complaint. The pretty divorcee lives with her mother at North Fair Oaks. Schwabenland conducted a meat market some time ago in the Slinger building and for a while did a good business until his domestic affairs became ruffled.

It is rumored that no fewer than five weddings will take place in town after the lenten season. Who are the lucky couples? Time alone will tell.

M. J. Riley, a prominent San Francisco businessman, purchased an $8,000 home in the Hermose tract yesterday. All the propertyin that subdivision has been sold.

The Girl Scouts enjoyed a romp through the beautiful home of Herbert Hoover at the Stanford campus last week. Tea was enjoyed in the attractive dining room of the Secretary of Commerce. The girls were delighted with the charming home.

John T. Aabel was elected trustee of the Menlo Park grammar school yesterday. He had no opposition . He will make a splendid official.

Under the auspices of the Las Lomitas troop of Boy Scouts a pagaent will take place at the Menlo Park Circus Club, Saturday, April 3. Admission free. The presentation of the actual customs of the Ojibeway Indian tribes, including dances, the Ojibeway scalp dance will be presented. The purpose of the event is to present to the general public some of the advanced work of the Organization particularly for the older boys. There is to be no collections or subscriptions of any kind and it is hoped that the attendance will be capacity, the seating arrangements being able to provide for 1500 people.

Mrs. Black, widow of the late Dr. Black of San Francisco, has bought the Major Wales place on Valparaiso avenue. She intends to spend $10,000 developing and improving the property. Mrs. Black owns a beautiful estate near the Pitt river in Siskiyou county, where she spends a portion of the summer. Her husband the late Dr. Black, was one of the best known and most skilful eye and ear specialists in San Francisco during his time. When he became ill during the World war he leased the Williams place in Menlo Oaks where he lived for sime time. Mrs. Black has an interesting family of sons and daughters. The family will be an acquisition to the community.

The Chamber of Commerce held an important meeting at Laurel Court last Monday evening. Twenty-five applications for membership were voted upon which maxes the roll fifty with prospects of double that number at the next meeting. A committee was appointed to prepare for the banquet on April 12 at which Mayor James Rolph and others will address the banqueters. A committee was also chosen to prepare a campaign resolution setting forth certain things the chamber stands for, namely Hetch Hetchy water, amalgamation, extension of the car lines down to Menlo Park, a direct road to the Dumbarton bridge and to encourage the Western Pacific Railroad Company to extend its lines through the county to San Francisco. The chamber is planning big things for the community which if they come through will place Menlo Park on the map. The chamber should be given every encouragement.

Mrs. F. I. Kurtz's new and pretty home in Valparaiso Park will be completed on the first of the month when she will vacate the Duff and Doyle house on Santa Cruz avenue. The cosy new home was designed by Mrs. Kurtz and every room planned by her. It is the last word in neatness, comfort and coziness. Some speculation is made as to what will be done with the Duff and Doyle house. It is rumored that the old building is to be wrecked and a modern theatre erected. It certainly would be an ideal place for a show house.

Promptly at 3:30 the students were assembled in the auditorium to await the entrance of his Grace accompanied by accolytes and clergy When the speakers and guests of honor had taken their places on the stage a special choir under the direction of Rev. Mark A. Gafney, S. J. sang the Ecce cerdes magnus. The following were in the choir from ap the peninsula: sopranos, W. Wilson, W. Morey, R. Bourret, P. Bourret; Santa Clara and San Jose; altos, H. Lecat, C. O'Brien, P. Gangi, J. Kerr, A. Vasconcelles, C. Wilcox and A. Brenna; San Francisco and elsewere, tenors, C. Lastreto, J. Barmetler, A. Ronstadt, J. Day, J. Daly, M. Grodzik; bass, T. McGrath, J. Butler, J. McGarry and J. Jennings.

Dr. Pritchard of Santa Clara acted as chairman and introduced the various speakers. Mr. Charles Snider, president of San Jose Chamber of Commerce, welcomed the new school to San Jose. Mr. Joseph E. Hancock, county superintendent of education, spoke of the value of education to the rising generation. Rev. Joseph M. Piet, S. J., provincial of the Jesuits on the coast, spoke of the position religion holds in every program of learning. His Grace the Archbishop, was the speaker on the program and spoke as follows:

"When so ever in any community a new and important work is begun those who dwell round about have every right to ask why have you come? For years upon years now we are celebrating the Diamond Jubilee. The fathers of the Society of Jesus have carried on in this distinguished community a mighty work of education. It seems a good thing that as they grow older and their power increases, with their Diamond Jubilee there comes to this community a new and great work. May the Archbishop, first of all congratulate them and you on the inception of that magnificent task in behalf of boys budding into the fulness of manhood and in behalf of the boys passing the most important days of their whole life. And if you ask why have we come we might answer you first of all that we come in keeping with the commission given of old to go forth and teach all nations teaching them to observe all things what so ever I have commanded you. In virtue of that commission we teach, but not only because of the divine commission but to keep up one of the most magnificent educational systems ever known do we commence today this ne wan dimportant work.

When the world had lost its balance, when the civilization that had made Europe great in the middle ages was about to disappear, upon the scene there came men who brought back into the world the old tradition of education, the old tradition of cuture the old tradition of high and fearless manhood. We are here and we say it with pride, on this occasion to keep in this community this great tradition of education. One of the gentlemen who spoke before me asked I think very pointedly the question, "What is education? and just as pointedly he told you what it did not mean, for after all education is the development of mind and heart in man. It is making him think in order that he may act in keeping with his glory and dignity. It is making him think high thoughts that unto high resolbes ne may pass. And if this sounds unto ears a little remote, listen again what education may be—not only that it makes a man think, not only that it makes men think high and noble thoughts leading to noble resolves but that it is something that gives unto men and women a finer taste in literature, a finer taste in art, a finer taste in the high and nobler things in man and the school that will teach the boys to think for themselves, not repeat parrot like, will teach boys to think thoughts unto great resolves, that teach boys to place high values upon home in heaven, to appreciate what is high and noble in litearture, to judge of the finest things of life—that is education that fits boys to be men that we need in our land for the further advancement of the kingdom of Jesus Christ. And if you still ask further what this education may be, it is the education that will fit these boys of ours, in the finest sense of the work, to stand forth in the battle of life, and fight for ideals to which the country is consecreated, and to fight for ideals which are Christ's across the ages, and any education that fails to send forth our boys unprepared to think for themselves and think and value higher and nobler thoughts no matter what it costs, is education in vain? I care not whether you erect magnificent material structures, I care not whether you erect mighty temples of stone unto learning, if you teach not your boys to think for themselves high and noble thoughts, or to have the finest tastes in things the finest in life, if you train not your boys to stand for high values—truth, justice, mercy, and love and service then our education has no value and men who give it unto children have less value. But if in a cabin the rudest you can imagine, you train men to think great thoughts that they may be great men. Ah, then you have accomplished the work which is a school masters task.

We look out over this land which our fathers dedicated to liberty, we look out over this land which has given unto man the most magnificent opportunities for material success ever given man. We look over this great land, the first today in the galky of nations, we look over the land which holds the world more or less in the hollow of its hand. We look over the land flooded with prosperity that the world has never known before and we ask are we, you and I, equal to the task of this mighty prosperity and of the power that has come to us, and when you look back over the history of the world and watch the progress of nations and see them reach the highest pinnacle of their glory and then fall because of too much prosperity it is business of the greatest importance to your community to feel that prosperity is not all well with us unless this new generation has greater power, and greater strength than we here in our generation and if you listen to your Archbishop this afternoon it seems to me so clear that the task coming to these boys round me here this glorious afternoon, will require more strength than the tasks of our fathers. Those pioneers here were strong men and possibly bore the burdens of battle that we cannot bear, but we of the newer generation will have need of greater moral strength and greater mental strength than our fathers needed even when they accomplished the mighty things we see with our eyes today, and for that reason these schools and places where they train men and give knowledge and power have become today the most important in the life of nations and as the schools and as the family is so will be your power to maintain your place in the galaxy of nations. Do you wonder that we are anxious that we dedicate every power and strength of our lives that our young men may have knowledge and power? I repeat it for the hundreth time for I lobe to ask it, if a man asked you today what does this country need most, you answer a race of men who know what is right and in honor justice, purity and service and love and then who are diciplined they have the courage to do right in spite of the throng around about them leading them to the primrose path of evil. May the blessings that we extend over this place today come from above unto the hearts of our children. May Christ who is the light of the world give power unto their minds. May Christ who is the powers of the fathers give power and strength unto their hearts and may they of knowledge and power go forth to be an honor to these men who dedicate their lives to culture and learning, and honor to this land so beautiful and so strong, and honor to the church which is our mother and be an honor to their instructors, an honor to their country and to their church. May they in their day stand forth the high things of life—strength and honor unto the name of Christ who is after all is our Lord, our God, our teacher, our master, our all.

Following the exercises in the auditorium the students and guests adjourned to the lawns on the campus to await the beginning of Solemn Benediction. Meanwhile his Grace, the Archbishop accompanied by the clergy and altar boys entered the class room building and blessed it for its sublime work of molding the young.

An altar had been erected under a portico tastily decorated with lilacs and shrubbery. Priedieur were set about for the visiting clergy and the students knelt on the lawn. His Grace, the Archbishop, was the celebrant at Benediction. Rev. Joseph M. Piet, S. J. acted as deacon, Rev. Zacheus J Maher S. J. the sub-deacon, Rev Thomas P. Cosgrave S. J. the master of ceremonies.

At the conclusion of benediction came the blessing of the Flag. Robert Jatjo, president of the student body, raised the Flag to its position and as its folds opened to the breeze petals of red and white and blue showered from them on the lawn. The assembly sang the "Star Spangled Banner," and the program was at an end.

Among the guests present were Rev. John J. Jepson S. S. of St. Josephs Seminary at Mountain View and Rev Edward J. Whelan, S. J., president of St. Ignatius College of San Francisco.
